International Conference
on Neutron Scattering

21-25 AUGUST | BUENOS AIRES - ARGENTINA

<https://icns2022.org/>

New deadline for Abstract Submission:
February 14, 2022

We have been receiving during the past few weeks a good number of high-quality submissions, but in the spirit to maximize the opportunities for sharing the exciting new developments within the topics represented at ICNS 2022, we are pleased to extend the deadline of abstract submission to February 14, 2022.

SCIENTIFIC PROGRAM

Topics at the conference will include:

- Soft Matter
- Biology and Biological Interfaces
- Condensed Matter Physics
- Magnetism and Thin Films
- Solid State Chemistry
- Life Sciences
- Energy and Engineering Materials
- Functional Materials
- Industrial Applications
- Cultural Heritage and Archaeometry
- Neutron Physics
- Neutron Sources and Facilities

We understand that life is uncertain right now due to the COVID-19 pandemic, but we hope that everything could go back to some kind of normality during the next months, and we are planning accordingly. While we remain optimistic that an in-person ICNS 2022 will take place, a preparation for some degree of virtuality is also under consideration. Depending on the evolution of the worldwide situation, we may have to make critical decisions in the next few months, which may have implications on the format of ICNS 2022.
